Why it could be right for you

- › Budget with confidence, knowing the rate of interest we charge, and your monthly payments, stay the same.
- › Own the vehicle at the end of the agreement.

How it works

- › To meet your needs and budget, set up how long the agreement runs for and the deposit (if any) you put down.
- › Fixed interest rate. So, after paying any deposit, you pay the same amount each month for the whole agreement. This covers the amount you borrowed and interest.
- › If you wish to put down a deposit, you have three options:
 1. Trade in your existing vehicle (part exchange) and put this towards the deposit.
 2. Put down a cash deposit.
 3. Trade in your vehicle (part exchange) and add a cash contribution towards the deposit.
- › At the end of the agreement, you have one option: To keep the vehicle.

More you should know

- › The smaller the deposit you put down, the more chance you have of going into negative equity. This is when the value of the vehicle becomes less than the balance you owe on the loan you secured against it.
- › The agreement is secured against the vehicle. If you miss your repayments, we may need to take steps to recover the outstanding balance, which could include repossession of the vehicle. Ownership of the vehicle will be transferred to you once all payments under the agreement have been completed.

This type of agreement is covered by the Consumer Credit Act 1974, which means:

- › You can pay off lump sum amounts during the agreement.
- › You can settle the agreement early by repaying the required amount.
- › You have the right to terminate the agreement early through Voluntary Termination.

Why it could be right for you

- › Pay less each month, compared to our Conditional Sale.
- › Fixed interest rate. So, after paying any deposit, you pay the same amount each month for the whole agreement. This covers the amount you borrowed and interest.
- › Gives you the option to finance your vehicle for a shorter term if you want.

How it works

- › Your monthly payments are lower because you pay the remaining balance at the end. This final 'balloon' payment is based on the vehicle's estimated value at the end of the agreement.
- › Your finance quotation will include the balloon payment.
- › To meet your needs and budget, choose how long the agreement runs for and the deposit (if any) you put down.
- › After paying any deposit, you pay monthly and pay the balloon at the end of the agreement.
- › At the end of the agreement, you have one option:
 - › Keep the vehicle: simply make the balloon payment and the vehicle is yours.

More you should know

- › You can't return the vehicle at the end of the agreement.
- › Once all payments under the agreement have been made, including the balloon payment, you become the owner of the vehicle.
- › You are required to pay the balloon payment.
- › If you're a limited company, PLC or limited partnership, we can't offer you this agreement.

This type of agreement is covered by the Consumer Credit Act 1974, which means:

Why it could be right for you

- › Lower monthly payments because the optional final payment is due at the end of the agreement.
- › Fixed interest rate. So you pay the same amount each month for the whole agreement.
- › End of agreement options to keep, return or renew the vehicle.
- › Tailored to how long you want a plan for, and how many miles you do.

How it works

- › At the start of the agreement, you decide the size of any deposit you put down. You also set the term, and the miles you expect to do each year. All this decides your monthly payments. It also determines the costs you defer and pay at the end of the agreement, known as the optional final payment or a balloon payment.
- › At the end of the agreement, you can either:
 - › Keep the vehicle: simply make the optional final payment and the vehicle is yours.
 - › Return the vehicle: you've nothing more to pay if the vehicle's in good condition and you've only done the miles you agreed.
 - › Renew your vehicle: trade in your current vehicle to pay off the optional final payment, select a new vehicle, and use any remaining value as a deposit for your next vehicle.

More you should know

- › If you decide to return the car and you go over the estimated annual mileage, you may need to pay an excess mileage charge.
- › If you decide to keep the car, you are required to pay the balloon payment.
- › If you're a limited company, PLC or limited partnership, we can't offer you this agreement.

This type of agreement is covered by the Consumer Credit Act 1974, which means:

Why it could be right for you

- › Could be your best, hassle-free choice if you just want to use a vehicle, not own it.
- › Pay a fixed monthly rental for the length of the agreement.
- › At the end of the agreement, just return the vehicle to us. So you've no worries about the vehicle's value dropping, or having to sell.

How it works

- › Set up the agreement to run between 24 months to 48 months.
- › Your agreement will also factor in the miles you expect to do, any extra services you want, and the initial rental you put down.
- › For an extra monthly cost, you can also include fixed-price servicing and maintenance.
- › Pay an initial rental. The more this is, the lower your monthly rental.
- › Pay a monthly rental for the length of the agreement. We guarantee the rental amount stays the same, as long as any government fees or charges that are included, such as Vehicle tax, don't change.
- › At the agreement's end, just return the vehicle to us. If it's in good condition and you've only done the miles you agreed, you've nothing more to pay.

More you should know

- › You must lease the vehicle for a minimum of 24 months and the maximum term is 48 months (subject to the vehicle type)
- › At the agreement's end, you won't own the vehicle, and you'll have no option to buy it.
- › When you return the vehicle, you'll need to pay for any mileage you've done over what you agreed. You must also keep the vehicle in good condition in line with British Vehicle Rental and Leasing Association standards. If you don't, we may charge a refurbishment fee.
- › You can end the agreement before the agreed end date, if you return the vehicle and pay 50% of the rentals that are left.
- › If you're a limited company, PLC or limited partnership, we can't offer you this agreement.
- › If you choose not to include servicing and maintenance in your monthly rental, then it is the responsibility of the customer to service and maintain the vehicle according to the marker's guidelines (ideally via the franchised dealer network). Failure to do so will lead to a recharge for any work required after the vehicle is collected.

For illustrative purposes only; you must put down an initial rental.

How it works

More you should know

- › The smaller the deposit you put down, the more chance you have of going into negative equity. This is when the value of the vehicle becomes less than the balance you owe on the loan you secured against it.
- › Following an accepted application, Santander Consumer will fulfil your Purchase Plan as either a Conditional Sale Agreement or a Fixed Sum Loan. Fixed Sum Loan: You own the vehicle right from the start of the loan. You will have no right to terminate the agreement early (under a voluntary termination through the Consumer Credit Act 1974). You may only use the loan for the purchase of the agreed vehicle. Conditional Sale: The agreement is secured against the vehicle. If you miss your repayments, we may need to take steps to recover the outstanding balance, which could include repossession of the vehicle. Ownership of the vehicle will be transferred to you once all payments under the agreement have been completed. You have the right to terminate the agreement early through Voluntary Termination.
- › This type of agreement is covered by the Consumer Credit Act 1974, which means:

Why it could be right for you

- › Lower monthly payments because the optional final payment is due at the end of the agreement.
- › Fixed interest rate. So you pay the same amount each month for the whole agreement.
- › End of agreement options to keep, return or renew the vehicle.
- › Tailored to how long you want a plan for, and how many miles you do.

How it works

- › At the start of the agreement, you decide the size of any deposit you put down. You also set the term, and the miles you expect to do each year. All this decides your monthly payments. It also determines the costs you defer and pay at the end of the agreement, known as the optional final payment or a balloon payment.
- › At the end of the agreement, you can either:
 - › Keep the vehicle: simply make the optional final payment and the vehicle is yours.
 - › Return the vehicle: you've nothing more to pay if the vehicle's in good condition and you've only done the miles you agreed.
 - › Renew your vehicle: trade in your current vehicle to pay off the optional final payment, select a new vehicle, and use any remaining value as a deposit for your next vehicle.

More you should know

- › If you decide to return the car and you go over the estimated annual mileage, you may need to pay an excess mileage charge.
- › If you decide to keep the car, you are required to pay the balloon payment.
- › If you're a limited company, PLC or limited partnership, we can't offer you this agreement.

This type of agreement is covered by the Consumer Credit Act 1974, which means:

- › You can pay off lump sum amounts during the agreement.
- › You can settle the agreement early by repaying the required amount.
- › You have the right to terminate the agreement early through Voluntary Termination.

Why it could be right for you

- › Own the vehicle at the end of the agreement.

How it works

- › To meet your needs and budget, set up how long the agreement runs for and the deposit (if any) you put down.
- › Fixed interest rate. So, after paying any deposit, you pay the same amount each month for the whole agreement. This covers the amount you borrowed and interest.
- › If you wish to put down a deposit, you have three options:
 1. Trade in your existing vehicle (part exchange) and put this towards the deposit.
 2. Put down a cash deposit.
 3. Trade in your vehicle (part exchange) and add a cash contribution towards the deposit.
- › At the end of the agreement, you have one option: To keep the vehicle.

More you should know

- › The smaller the deposit you put down, the more chance you have of going into negative equity. This is when the value of the vehicle becomes less than the balance you owe on the loan you secured against it.
- › The agreement is secured against the vehicle. If you miss your repayments, we may need to take steps to recover the outstanding balance, which could include repossession of the vehicle. Ownership of the vehicle will be transferred to you once all payments under the agreement have been completed.

Why it could be right for you

- › Pay less each month, compared to our Conditional Sale.
- › Fixed interest rate. So, after paying any deposit, you pay the same amount each month for the whole agreement. This covers the amount you borrowed and interest.
- › Gives you the option to finance your vehicle for a shorter term if you want.

How it works

- › Your monthly payments are lower because you pay the remaining balance at the end. This final 'balloon' payment is based on the vehicle's estimated value at the end of the agreement.
- › Your finance quotation will include the balloon payment.
- › To meet your needs and budget, choose how long the agreement runs for and the deposit (if any) you put down.
- › After paying any deposit, you pay monthly and pay the balloon at the end of the agreement.
- › At the end of the agreement, you have one option:
 - › Keep the vehicle: simply make the balloon payment and the vehicle is yours.

More you should know

- › You can't return the vehicle at the end of the agreement.
- › Once all payments under the agreement have been made, including the balloon payment, you become the owner of the vehicle.
- › You are required to pay the balloon payment.

Why it could be right for you

- › Could be your best, hassle-free choice if you just want to use a vehicle, not own it.
- › Pay a fixed monthly rental for the length of the agreement.
- › At the end of the agreement, just return the vehicle to us. So you've no worries about the vehicle's value dropping, or having to sell.

For illustrative purposes only; you must put down an initial rental.

Compare your options

How it works

- › Set up the agreement to run between 6 months to 48 months.
- › Your agreement will also factor in the miles you expect to do, any extra services you want, and the initial rental you put down.
- › For an extra monthly cost, you can also include fixed-price servicing and maintenance.
- › Pay an initial rental. The more this is, the lower your monthly rental.
- › Pay a monthly rental for the length of the agreement. We guarantee the rental amount stays the same, as long as any government fees or charges that are included, such as Vehicle tax, don't change.
- › At the agreement's end, just return the vehicle to us. If it's in good condition and you've only done the miles you agreed, you've nothing more to pay.

More you should know

- › You must lease the vehicle for a minimum of 6 months and the maximum term is 48 months (subject to the vehicle type)
- › At the agreement's end, you won't own the vehicle, and you'll have no option to buy it.
- › When you return the vehicle, you'll need to pay for any mileage you've done over what you agreed. You must also keep the vehicle in good condition in line with British Vehicle Rental and Leasing Association standards. If you don't, we may charge a refurbishment fee.
- › You can end the agreement before the agreed end date, if you return the vehicle and pay 50% of the rentals that are left.
- › If you're a limited company, PLC or limited partnership, we can't offer you this agreement.
- › If you choose not to include servicing and maintenance in your monthly rental, then it is the responsibility of the customer to service and maintain the vehicle according to the marker's guidelines (ideally via the franchised dealer network). Failure to do so will lead to a recharge for any work required after the vehicle is collected.
